

Collaborating for the Advancement of Interdisciplinary Research in Benign Urology

CAIRIBU at AUA 2022

CAIRIBU investigators and trainees will make a significant impact in benign urology at this year's annual meeting of the American Urological Association.

More than 50 CAIRIBU-affiliated researchers will have a presence at the AUA meeting as abstract presenters, speakers, panelists, course faculty, hands-on skills training proctors, session moderators, and abstract co-authors.

Here's some details about CAIRIBU-related benign urologic clinical and research activities at the meeting (note that several CAIRIBU investigators are also involved in urologic cancer-related presentations and sessions - these are not included here):

- 20 abstracts related to benign urology (stones, bladder, infection, pediatrics, and surgery) will be presented by CAIRIBU-affiliated trainees and investigators in a variety of poster, podium, and video sessions
- 22 CAIRIBU leaders are involved as faculty in courses, proctors in hands-on skills training activities, and presenters or panelists in plenary sessions
- More than a dozen CAIRIBU investigators are invited speakers at specialty society programs, including the Society of Urodynamics, Female Pelvic Medicine & Urogenital Reconstruction, Sexual Medicine Society of North America, Society for Basic Urologic Research, Geriatric Urological Society, Society for the Study of Male Reproduction, and the Research on Calculus Kinetics Society

Current CAIRIBU P20 Centers for Interdisciplinary Research in Benign Urology will have a particularly strong presence at the AUA meeting as presenters, speakers, abstract-co-authors, faculty, etc. These include: Beaumont Hospital-Oakland University (PIs, Bernadette Zwaans, PhD and Michael Chancellor, MD), Children's Hospital of Philadelphia-University of Pennsylvania (PI, Gregory Tasian, MD), Duke University (PI, Pei Zhong, PhD), and University of Alabama at Birmingham (PI, Dean Assimos, MD). Other P20 Centers associated with activities at the meeting are Vanderbilt University (PI, Maria Hadjifrangiskou, PhD), Medical College of Wisconsin (PI, Kathryn Flynn, PhD), and Albert Einstein College of Medicine (PI, Kelvin Davies, PhD).

Current CAIRIBU U54 George M. O'Brien Urology Research Centers making a mark at the meeting include several collaborators associated with the Stanford University Center (PI, James Brooks, MD) and multiple trainees and investigators from the UW-Madison Center (PI, Will Ricke, PhD). Several current and prior CAIRIBU K12 Scholars from all 4 CAIRIBU-affiliated K12 Career Development Programs will present their work, moderate sessions, deliver invited presentations, and/or are abstract co-authors.

STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT BASICS FOR HEALTH SCIENCE RESEARCHERS

MAY 10, 2022 - 7:30 to 9:00 PM Eastern
(6:30-8:00 PM Central | 4:30-6:00 PM Pacific)

This session, the 3rd in this 4-part virtual monthly series, will feature members of the Community Advisors on Research Design and Strategies (CARDS)®. They will review, discuss, and provide feedback on the research materials of 2 CAIRIBU investigators. EVERYONE IN THE CAIRIBU COMMUNITY IS INVITED TO SIT IN ON THIS MEETING AND OBSERVE THE PROCESS IN ACTION.

Zoom link HERE (password is cairibu). Request more info by emailing CAIRIBU@urology.wisc.edu.

This series is designed help investigators strengthen their research agendas by engaging stakeholders and communicating their science more effectively. It is led by Gay Thomas, MA, a stakeholder engagement consultant with >30 years of experience in public policy, the private sector, and health sciences research. The first cohort of a dozen CAIRIBU investigators and trainees is currently enrolled. After the final session in June, look for a summary and evaluation for this skills-building exercise AND a call for those interested in comprising Cohort 2 in a second iteration of the program. More info about CAIRIBU's stakeholder engagement initiative HERE.

CAIRIBU K12 SCHOLAR SEMINAR SERIES

Invited presentations by K12 Scholars from CAIRIBU-affiliated Multidisciplinary Urologic Research (KURe) and Urological Epidemiology Institutional Research (KUroEpi) Career Development Programs. David Bayne, MD, MPH, Assistant Professor of

Urology and CAIRIBU K12 Scholar in the UCSF-Kaiser Permanente Urological Epidemiology (KUroEpi) Institutional Research Career Development K12 Program will present "Big Stones, Bad Access: Insight Into the Kidney Stone Treatment Cascade."

Thursday, May 12, 2022
5:00 PM EDT, virtual

4 PM Central | 2 PM Pacific

The CAIRIBU K12 Scholar Seminar Series is sponsored by the UW-Madison George M. O'Brien U54 Urology Center. Recordings of prior K12 seminars are on the CAIRIBU YouTube channel HERE.

CAIRIBU K12 Scholars Earn Recognition at Duke KURe Symposium

CAIRIBU trainees presented several abstracts at this year's virtual Duke University Multidisciplinary Urologic Research Career Development KURe (K12) Program annual symposium (April 28-29). Among them two K12 Scholars from two different CAIRIBU K12 Programs were honored for their research. Links to both scholars' abstracts are HERE.

1. Lauren Baker, PhD, DVM - UW-Madison KURe Program - earned 2nd place in the Basic Science Research category for her abstract presentation, "RNA sequencing of whole blood from dogs with and without spontaneous calcium oxalate kidney stones reveals association with natural killer cell immunity."
2. Eric Gonzalez, PhD - Duke University KURe Program - earned 2nd place in the Translational Science category for his abstract presentation, "AMPLIFY: amplifying sensation in underactive bladder (work in progress)." symposium as the AUA meeting concludes. From there we'll go somewhere to network and talk.

The SBUR symposium at the AUA meeting will be convened by Will Ricke, PhD, president-elect of the SBUR. Several CAIRIBU-affiliated investigators will be featured, including: Cathy Mendelsohn, PhD (a PI of the Columbia University George M. O'Brien Center); Indira Mysorekar, PhD (PI of a prior CAIRIBU P20 Center); Bernadette Zwaans, PhD (PI of the Beaumont-Oakland University P20 Center); and Doug Strand, PhD, Teresa Liu, PhD, and Petra Popovics, PhD of the UW-Madison O'Brien Center.

UW-MADISON O'BRIEN CENTER SYMPOSIUM

Targeting Aging in the Lower Urinary Tract

Wednesday and Thursday, June 29th and 30th. This 2-day symposium will be in-person at the UW-Madison Health Sciences Learning Center in Madison, WI. REGISTER HERE. All CAIRIBU-affiliated researchers, clinicians, and trainees with interests in the nexus between aging and urologic diseases are invited to attend. The participation of ALL disciplines and academic ranks is strongly encouraged in order to develop a collaborative and multidisciplinary approach to address urological research questions.

The keynote speaker is Judith Campisi, PhD of the Buck Institute for Research on Aging.

ANNUAL CAIRIBU MEETING

Wednesday through Friday, Nov. 30-Dec. 2, 2022

All CAIRIBU investigators and trainees from current CAIRIBU Centers and Programs - as well as those whose grant cycles ended in 2021 or earlier this year - are expected to attend. The meeting is IN-PERSON in Bethesda, MD at the North Bethesda Marriott Hotel & Conference Center and begins at 1:00 PM on Wed., Nov. 30 and concludes at 1:00 PM on Fri., Dec. 2.

Program planning has begun. Also, a committee of CAIRIBU trainees and ESIs have started planning for the annual "pre-meeting" trainee event. This will take place on Wednesday, November 30 from 9-12 noon.
